

“Just never give up on uncovering the truth. You will notice over time that none of your tears are bigger than the beauty that unfolds on a solid foundation of what is true for you and true to you.”, the flowers said.

“I see a tear coming.”, I answered.